WILLIAM TIPTON (AB)

William, son of Jonathan and Sarah (Pearce) Tipton, was born in Anne Arundel County, Maryland, July 27, 1696, and was baptized at St. James' Parish on Herring Creek in Anne Arundel County, Maryland on April 25, 1699. William may have stayed in Anne Arundel County for some time after his father moved to Baltimore County ca. 1713, because we find William witnessing the will of Mary Price (his future mother-in-law) in Anne Arundel County in May of 1718. However, in November of that same year, he was to be found in Baltimore County acting as a witness to a deed of gift from his older brother, Thomas, to his younger brother, John.<sup>1</sup>

William married Hannah Price, daughter of Mordecai and Mary (Parsons) Price and granddaughter of Thomas Price ca. 1719 in Baltimore (?) County, Maryland. The Prices were Quakers, and, although William was baptized in the Church of England, he subsequently converted to the Quaker religion.<sup>2</sup>

The first record of a land acquisition by William that has been found is when he acquired "Murphey's Hazzard" from Edward Murphey in 1723.<sup>3</sup> Almost certainly, he acquired other lands, because in his will, written in 1726, William left "all of my lands" to sons Samuel and Mordecai; in the event of their deaths, the estate was to go to "daughter Sarah." William's will was witnessed by John Price (brother-in-law) and Thomas Tipton. William died May 6, 1726; his will was dated April 5, 1726, and it was probated August 2, 1726.

Sometime after the death of William Tipton,<sup>4</sup> his widow Hannah (Price) Tipton remarried to John Bosley. The will of Hannah (Price) (Tipton) Bosley, probated January 16, 1777, mentions sons Samuel and Mordecai Tipton, daughter Sarah Cole, and a number of Bosley grandchildren. Her will was witnessed by Phillip "Coale" and William "Cole."<sup>5</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Although the locales where William witnessed these documents may be indicative of his residence, they are by no means proof. Anne Arundel and Baltimore Counties are not so far apart as to preclude casual visits from one place to the other.

<sup>3</sup> This piece of land has a curious bit of history. Jonathan Tipton, father of William, sold this property to Edward Murphey in 1722. One cannot help but wonder about this chain of transactions.

<sup>4</sup> An action that would incline one to think that Hannah married soon after the death of William is that a little over a month after the death of William Tipton, his widow Hannah (Price) Tipton relinquished her right as administrator of William's estate. On the other hand, on October 17, 1727, a year after the death of William, Jonathan Tipton, Hannah's father-in-law, made a gift to "my well beloved daughter-in-law, Hannah Tipton,....to enjoy till the day of marriage of my granddaughter Sarah Tipton." Among other items were one servant boy and cattle (chattle) to the extent of £16 d11. S. L. Boyd (op. cit.) gives the date of Hannah's second marriage as 1725-26. The first date is obviously premature and the second is almost surely too early. The year 1728 seems to be about the earliest date for Hannah's second marriage that is compatible with Jonathan's gift.

<sup>5</sup> Both William and Hannah mention only three Tipton children in their wills, which is strong evidence that there were no others.

JONATHAN TIPTON (AC)

Jonathan, son of Jonathan and Sarah Pierce Tipton, was born in Anne Arundel County, Maryland, on March 25, 1699, and was baptized one month later at St. James' Parish on Herring Creek. He moved, most likely, to Baltimore County with his father ca. 1713. The next documentation on Jonathan is when he witnessed the will of Richard Kemp in 1726. (Kemp owned property in Baltimore County adjacent to that of Jonathan Tipton, Sr.)

Jonathan married sometime around 1726, because records in St. Paul's Parish show that Jonathan and Elizabeth Tipton were the parents of Edward Tipton (ACA), born October 27, 1728. Subsequently, Elizabeth gave birth to two other children, John (ACB) in 1730 and Sarah (ACC) in 1734. Elizabeth Tipton died (possibly during or shortly after the birth of Sarah) sometime prior to 1736, because records document that Jonathan and Mary Tipton were the parents of William Tipton, born August 30, 1736 (see Figure 22). Jonathan had at least two other children<sup>1</sup> subsequent to William: Joseph (ACE) born ca. 1738 (presumably in Baltimore County, Maryland) and Jonathan (ACF) born 1750 in Shenandoah (then Frederick) County, Virginia. The identity of the mother(s) of these two latter children is uncertain because the evidence indicates that Jonathan Tipton married two more times. A deed executed by Jonathan Tipton and wife Julithia in 1747 dealing with property given to Jonathan (AC) by his father signifies a third marriage for Jonathan, while still another deed executed by Jonathan Tipton and wife Elizabeth in 1774 in Virginia denotes yet a fourth marriage by this man. However, the dates of these marriages are too hazy to enable the identity of the mother of these children. Neither Mary nor Julithia can be eliminated as candidates for the mother of Joseph; similarly, neither Julithia nor Elizabeth can be discounted as the possible mother of Jonathan.

Jonathan (AC) Tipton moved from Baltimore County, Maryland, to Frederick County, Virginia, sometime prior to the birth of his son Jonathan (ACF) in 1750. The most likely time for the move would appear to be in the last half of 1747, because Jonathan disposed of some of his Baltimore County assets and settled some other Baltimore County affairs in the first half of the year. The first document that verifies his residency in Virginia is a grant from Lord Fairfax in 1766. Jonathan and his wife Elizabeth sold this property in December of 1774 and moved shortly thereafter (1775 or 1776), in company with his son Jonathan (ACF), to the Watauga settlement in Tennessee (then North Carolina.) A second son, Joseph (ACE), either accompanied them or followed shortly thereafter for he appears in the 1778 Watauga tax list.

The last recorded transaction that can be attributed to Jonathan (AC) with any degree of confidence is the sale of his land in Washington County, Tennessee, in 1785. Carter County tax records show that a Jonathan Tipton, Sr., and a Jonathan Tipton, Jr., were residents of Carter County in 1796. Although it is possible that these two men were Jonathan (AC) and Major Jonathan (ACF), it is also possible and perhaps likely that Jonathan (AC) had passed away by this time (he would have been 97) and that Major Jonathan had assumed the use of "Sr." with some other descendant using "Jr." as a courtesy to Major Jonathan Tipton.<sup>2,3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> No concrete evidence has been found to show that Jonathan sired any children in the 12-year period between the births of Joseph and Jonathan. However, Jonathan would seem to be the most likely candidate for the father of the Elizabeth Tipton, who married Charles Reneau, and possibly the Mary Tipton who married John McGuire in 1771. They are carried on Jonathan's group sheet for accountability.

FURTHER DISCUSSION ON JONATHAN TIPTON (AC)

To the best of this student's knowledge, no evidence exists to establish the maiden names of any of the wives of Jonathan Tipton (AC). Neither S. L. Boyd nor W. H. Tipton postulate family names for any of his wives. J. H. Bell suggests that Jonathan's first wife may have been Elizabeth Pierce; but, obviously, Bell had mixed up the wives of the first and second generations. Mrs. R. H. Stickley of Memphis, Tennessee, wrote that some records in the possession of Mrs. J. Howard Baily of St. Louis indicate that Elizabeth's name was Adams, but this compiler has not seen any such evidence. E. C. Tipton lists the name of Jonathan's first wife as Elizabeth Edwards without giving any evidence for that identification. It is to be suspected the E. C. Tipton came up with this name on the assumption that the name given her firstborn was a family name. This may not be a bad guess, but students of the family should bear in mind that a guess is probably all that it was.

Because the births of three of Jonathan's children appear in sequence in the St. Paul's register (see Figure 22), it seems certain that the births were recorded on the same date. Under those circumstances, there would seem to be little chance for error in entering the names of the mothers. Consequently, the given name of Jonathan's second wife and the approximate date of marriage seem to rest on firm ground. The 1747 deed by Jonathan and Julithia Tipton and the 1774 deed by Jonathan and Elizabeth Tipton make a reasonably good case for Jonathan to have married a third and a fourth time. The property that was the subject of the 1747 deed seems to make it fairly certain that the grantor in question was Jonathan Tipton (AC). Similarly, "the mark" on the 1774 document is so similar to the marks that appeared on documents executed by Jonathan (AC) as to leave little question but that they are one and the same. Additionally, the date of the grant to Jonathan Tipton (1766) is early enough to eliminate most of the other Jonathans who might be candidates.

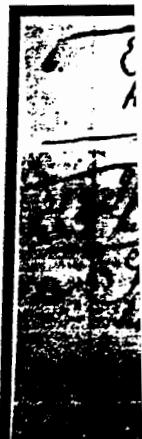

Jonathan Tipton (ACB D), a grandson of Jonathan (AC), wrote to Lyman C. Draper: "I think grandfather married twice." The possible fact that two of Jonathan's wives were named Elizabeth may have led to confusion among his descendants and especially so if Jonathan had children by only one of the Elizabeths.

The identity of four of Jonathan's children can be established by the St. Paul's Parish records. No birth records for Joseph (ACE) or Jonathan (ACF) have been found, but their bona fides were established by Jonathan (ACB I) in the letter to Draper referenced above when he wrote "I don't ever recollect seeing any of father's (Col. John Tipton's) brothers except Joseph and Jonathan." The date and place of Jonathan's (ACE) birth were established from his pension application. The date and place of Joseph's (ACE) birth shown in this study are estimates based on the assumption that one quick conception by Mary (tentatively assumed to be the mother of both William and Joseph) was apt to be followed by another one.

Some of the students of the Tipton family have taken the Elizabeth Tipton who married Charles Reneau to be the daughter of Joseph Tipton. That line of descent for Elizabeth makes for some difficult genealogical arithmetic; it requires that Joseph marry very early, have a daughter as quickly as possible, followed by a large gap to the next child. Dollye Elliott of St. Louis, Missouri, suggested<sup>1</sup> that it was more likely that Elizabeth was the daughter of Jonathan Tipton (AC) and a sister of Col. John (ACB). No records support this thesis, but the absence of documents giving the names of the unidentified wives of Jonathan Tipton in the records because there is a question about the identity of the wife.

Jonathan Tipton had four sons except for the one who died in infancy. Luke (ACB I) married Sarah, was present with the family in 1776, and died in 1800. At the same time, as his brothers moved to Tennessee and married, Jonathan remained in Virginia.

of documentation on females is commonplace; except for birth and marriage entries, records giving the maiden name of women were few and far between in that day and age. Another unidentified person who might fit in this same niche is the Mary Tipton who married John McGuire in Virginia on February 15, 1771. Because she might have belonged to this family and because there is no more appropriate place to put her, she too is carried in this family, albeit as a questionable member, for accountability reasons.

Jonathan Tipton (AC) seems to have been accompanied in his move to Virginia by all of his sons except Edward (ACA.) Edward remained in Maryland until after the birth of his son Luke (ACA E) in 1760 and sometime after this moved to Pennsylvania. Jonathan's daughter, Sarah, was presumably married to Mordecai Tipton (ABC) by 1750 and did not make the move with the family. Jonathan (AC) later moved to the Watauga settlement with, or at about the same time, as his sons Joseph (ACE) and Jonathan (ACF). Col. John Tipton deferred his move to Tennessee until late in 1783. The other son, William (ACD), almost surely moved to Virginia with his father since he was only 14 years of age at the time, but the indications are that he remained in Virginia when the rest of his family (except for Edward) moved on to Tennessee.

ST. PAUL'S PARISH BIRTH RECORDS (1728-1736)

TIPTON WIVES, THE SECOND GENERATION

THE WIFE OF THOMAS TIPTON (AA): Hord Tipton states in his book that Thomas Tipton "married Sarah Steptoe in 1716." Heinemann and Bell also list the wife of Thomas Tipton as Sarah Steptoe, but none of these authors give their source for this marriage. E. C. Tipton, without citing his source, says that the date of the marriage was October 5, 1716, and that Sarah was a descendant of Dr. James Steptoe of H Harmony Hall..."<sup>1</sup>

The St. Paul's parish records confirm that the given name of Thomas Tipton's wife was indeed Sarah but do not give any inkling as to her maiden name. If Sarah was indeed a Steptoe, it is unlikely that she was the Sarah Steptoe identified by E. C. Tipton because (1) that Sarah lived in Virginia, a considerable distance from the Tipton residence in Baltimore County, (2) Dr. James Steptoe's daughter was only 14 years of age in 1716, and (3) according to the Steptoe family records, Sarah, daughter of James Steptoe, married a Mr. Grimes.

In summary, we know very little about Sarah, wife of Thomas Tipton. She may have been a Steptoe, but no evidence shows that she was. The St. Paul's Parish records document that Thomas and Sarah were the parents of eight children between 1717 and 1734. It is possible that they had other children who were born elsewhere since Thomas moved to Virginia sometime after 1734. The date of Sarah's death is not known, but she appears to have been alive in 1763 when Thomas took part in the settlement of his father's estate.

THE WIFE OF WILLIAM TIPTON (AB): The date that William Tipton married Hannah Price is placed around 1719 because their first child was born in May of 1721. Hannah, the daughter of Mordecai and Mary (Parsons) Price, was born about 1700 in Baltimore County, Maryland. The Price family appears to have been Quaker because many of the records of that family are found in the Gunpowder Meeting records and William converted to that religion later in life.

William Tipton's 1726 will gave all of his land and holdings to his two sons, but, in the event of their death, the estate was to go to his daughter Sarah. It was not so stated in the will, but the widow retained the right to live on the estate and was the guardian of the children and executor of the estate.

In 1727, Jonathan Tipton, Hannah's father-in-law, gave her, "in consideration of love, good will and affection," a servant boy, three cows, seven pigs, and various and sundry household goods to be held in trust for Jonathan's granddaughter, Sarah, until the day of her marriage. In the event of Sarah's death, the goods were to be divided equally between Samuel and Mordecai.

Hannah Tipton, who was 24 or 25 at the time of her husband's death, did not stay a widow long. She married John Bosely ca. 1728 and relinquished the administration of her late husband's estate to her father-in-law, Jonathan Tipton. Hannah had two children by John Bosely, Walter and Joseph. John Bosely died in 1772, dividing his estate among his widow and his two sons. When Hannah died in 1777, she divided her estate among her three Tipton children and her several Bosely grandchildren. (S. L. Boyd gives a good account of the family of Hannah Price Tipton in his book The Parish Families.)

THE WIVES OF JONATHAN TIPTON (AC): The births of Jonathan Tipton's (AC) second, third, and fourth children must have been recorded at the same time for they appear sequentially in the St. Paul's birth registry. Thus, there seems to be little chance for error in listing the mother of the children under that circumstance. The mother of Jonathan's first three children, Edward born 1728, John born 1730, and Sarah born 1734, is listed as Elizabeth, but the mother of Jonathan's fourth child, William born 1736, is given as Mary. The births of Jonathan's other children are not recorded in the St. Paul's annals.

The records cited above give us proof that Jonathan married Elizabeth sometime around 1722 and married a second time to Mary in either 1734 or 1735. Evidence of a third marriage by Jonathan (AC) is to be found in a quit claim in favor of John Stevenson on a portion of "Molly" and Sally's Delight" that he executed in 1747 and that was acknowledged by his wife Julithia.<sup>1</sup> This quit claim and a number of other transactions Jonathan (AC) made at about the same time appear to have been in preparation of the move he made to Virginia, probably in late 1747 or early 1748. We know that Jonathan was in Virginia by 1750 because his son Jonathan (ACF) was born there in that year. The first Virginia transaction by Jonathan (AC), where a record has surfaced, is a grant of 210 acres that he received in 1766. Jonathan sold this land in 1774, and that transaction was acknowledged by his wife, Elizabeth thus giving evidence of yet a fourth wife for Jonathan (AC).

No evidence establishes the family name of any of Jonathan Tipton's (AC) wives. Neither S. L. Boyd nor W. Hord Tipton postulate family names for any of Jonathan's wives in their books. J. H. Bell suggests, without citing any basis, that Jonathan's first wife may have been Elizabeth Pierce (obviously, he confused the wives of Jonathan (A) and Jonathan (AC).) Mrs. H. H. Stickley of Memphis, Tennessee, wrote that there was some indication from the records of Mrs. Howard Baily of St. Louis that Elizabeth's name was Adams. This compiler does not place much credence on either of these suggestions. E. C. Tipton lists the name of Jonathan's first wife as Elizabeth Edwards but does not cite any source for the identification. It is likely that E. C. Tipton assumed that her name was Edwards because her firstborn was named Edward. This guess would seem to be as good as any, but, nonetheless, it is, most likely, just a guess.

The mothers of four of Jonathan's (AC) children are identified in the St. Paul's Parish records. The fact that Jonathan had two other sons, Joseph and Jonathan, was confirmed by Col. John Tipton's son Jonathan in a letter to Draper wherein he said that Joseph and Jonathan were the only two of his father's brothers that he ever saw. The studies of Dollye Elliott of St. Louis, Missouri, have led her to believe that the Elizabeth Tipton who married Charles Reneau was probably the daughter of Jonathan Tipton (AC) rather than of Joseph Tipton (ACE). Although no evidence substantiates Mrs. Elliott's conclusions, the connection that she has postulated seems, to this student at least, the more likely one. There is also some possibility that Jonathan (AC) had another daughter, Mary, who married John McGuire in Shenandoah County, Virginia, in 1771. Although her connection to the family is highly speculative, Mary is carried here as a descendant of Jonathan (AC) by reason of proximity and because it is difficult to account for her otherwise.

The mother or mothers of none of these latter children of Jonathan can be identified on the basis of documentation. Based on the ages of Joseph Tipton's (ACE) children, it seems likely that he was born shortly after his brother William and a DOB of 1738 would be in keeping with his life history. If Joseph was born in 1738, it is not unlikely that he had the same mother, Mary, as his older brother William. The next child of Jonathan's (AC) of whom we have record is Jonathan (ACF), born in 1750; it is assumed here that there were in fact no children between Joseph and Jonathan. A scenario in keeping with that assumption is one wherein Mary, the mother of William and Joseph, died shortly after the birth of Joseph (ca. 1739), and Jonathan (AC) took his third wife, Julithia, shortly thereafter; widowers with small children tending, as they did then, to re-marry rather quickly. Based on the extended period between the birth of Joseph and that of Jonathan, it is not unlikely that the marriage of Jonathan and Julithia was fruitless. If Julithia died sometime in 1748 or 1749 and if Jonathan took his fourth wife, Elizabeth sometime around 1749, a scenario, in keeping with the births of the last three children, would cast Elizabeth as the mother of Jonathan (ACF) born 1750, Mary (ACG) born ca. 1752, and Elizabeth (ACH) born ca. 1754. The last record we have of Jonathan's wife Elizabeth is when she joined with him in the conveyance of their property in Virginia in 1774, at about the time they moved to Tennessee.

<sup>1</sup> A bit of an explanation is in order here. Jonathan Tipton (A) gave to his son Jonathan (AC) and his granddaughter Mary (AAA) out of "Love and Affection" equal parts of a piece of property that he owned named "Molly's and Sally's Delight" (Mary = Molly being one of the property's namesakes). The deed to Jonathan (AC) specified the meets and bounds of his half of the property, but the deed to Mary (AAA) was not that specific and merely gave her one-half (one moiety) of the property. The deed that Jonathan (AC) gave in 1747 to John Stevenson (Mary Tipton's husband) was, in effect, a quit claim that specified the meets and bounds of Mary's half of the property and thus gave her a clear title to the land. We can be sure that the deed was executed by Jonathan (AC) rather than his father, Jonathan (A), because (1) Jonathan's (A) wife Mary was still alive at that time and (2) the conflict in ownership was with Jonathan (AC) and not Jonathan (A), who had already disposed of the property.

In summary, we have no firm evidence that will establish the maiden names of any of Jonathan Tipton's (AC) wives. Church records and land transactions give evidence that Jonathan Tipton married four times: Elizabeth ca. 1726, Mary ca. 1735, Julithia ca. ?? 1739, and Elizabeth ca. ??? 1749. Church records list Elizabeth as the mother of Edward, John, and Sarah and give Mary as the mother of William. We can only speculate about the mothers of Jonathan's other children, but it is not unreasonable to assume that Mary was also the mother of Joseph. Identifying the mother(s) of the last three(?) children is a much chancier chore, but the second Elizabeth would seem to be a reasonable selection.

THE WIFE OF JOHN (AD): The will of Richard Kemp left his daughter, Mary, in the care of Mary Tipton [wife of Jonathan (A)] until Mary Kemp reached age sixteen. Some of the family historians have apparently used this fact as the basis for suggesting that John Tipton married Mary Kemp. He may have done so, but the guardianship of Mary Kemp by Mary Tipton would seem to be a fairly tenuous basis for the connection. (Note: Robert T. Nave believes that he recalls seeing some other document that suggests this union but cannot remember either the kind of document he saw it in or where he saw it.)

It has been assumed here that the John Tipton and wife Martha who, in 1769, sold "a tract near the mouth of a small branch which descends into the north side of George's Run,"<sup>1</sup> is John Tipton (AD). E. C. Tipton stated<sup>2</sup> that John Tipton (AD) "may be the John Tipton who died in 1775 leaving daughters Mary and Rachel,"<sup>3</sup> and such is taken to be the case in this study. Both girls had married by 1775, Mary to James Chambers and Rachel to Benjamin Ford.

MORDECAI TIPTON (ABC)

Mordecai, second son of William and Hannah (Price) Tipton (AB), was born April 8, 1724, in Baltimore County, Maryland, as recorded in the register of St. Paul's Parish of that county. His father, William Tipton, died when Mordecai was less than 2 years old, and his mother remarried to John Bosely not too long thereafter. Hannah (Price) (Tipton) Bosely was widowed again in 1772, and her will, probated in 1777, mentions all of her children by her first marriage: sons, Samuel and Mordecai Tipton, and daughter, Sarah, wife of Christopher Cole.

No documentary evidence that identifies Mordecai's wife has been discovered, but General John Tipton (ABC BA), grandson of Mordecai, stated that Colonel John Tipton was his (great) uncle, which has led some students of the family (including the author) to conclude that Mordecai's wife was his first cousin, Sarah Tipton (ACC), sister of Colonel John Tipton (ACB). One other indication of an intermarriage with that branch of the family is the fact that Mordecai Tipton's migration from Maryland to Virginia, although belated, followed, in general, the path taken by Jonathan Tipton (AC).

Land and tax records show that Mordecai Tipton remained in Baltimore County until sometime after 1773. The 1773 tax records also indicate that an Aquilla Tipton was living with Mordecai in that year giving at least some indication that he had a son by that name. The pension files of two of his sons, Thomas and William, give evidence that Mordecai had moved his family to the area around Mt. Vernon, Virginia, by 1775 and on into Frederick County, Virginia, in the upper Shenandoah Valley, by 1776. He seems to have remained in Frederick County until shortly after the Revolution and then moved on down the Shenandoah Valley and settled in Botetourt County for a few years in company with three of his sons, Thomas, William, and Joshua.

Various family records, pension statements, etc., give evidence that Mordecai Tipton had five sons: Thomas, Joshua, Sylvester, William, and Joseph. C. B. Heinemann<sup>1</sup> and E. C. Tipton<sup>2</sup> credit Mordecai with two other sons, Jonathan and John, but give no basis. J. H. Bell<sup>3</sup> had some question on the validity of William's connection but thought that Mordecai may have had a daughter who married Samuel Langdon. The family records of Harry S. Tipton, great-great-grandson of Mordecai<sup>4</sup> do not show Mordecai with a son named William, but the extended relationship of William with Mordecai's other sons and his continued proximity to the family in the migrations through Virginia indicate that he was a member of the family. Robert T. Nave suggests that Mordecai may have a son named Aquilla, and the 1773 tax record gives some credence to this belief.

Neither the dates nor the places of the demise of Mordecai and his wife are known, but Mordecai was in Grass Valley, Montgomery County, Virginia, by 1794, and he is assumed to have died there.

RELATED MATERIAL: "FURTHER DISCUSSION ON MORDECAI TIPTON (ABC). Following this scenario.

<sup>1</sup> Mordecai was 24 years of age, a typical age for men to marry in 1748, the year that Jonathan Tipton moved his family to Virginia. Sarah, Jonathan's daughter, was about 14 when Jonathan moved; a young but not unheard of age for women to marry. Alternately, Mordecai, who may have been only "sparking" Sarah at the time, might have moved with Jonathan's family and married Sarah later.

FURTHER DISCUSSION ON MORDECAI TIPTON (ABC)<sup>1</sup>

E. C. Tipton credits<sup>2</sup> some seven children to the union of Mordecai and Sarah Tipton: Joshua, Thomas, Sylester, Jonathan, William, Joseph, and John. He states that he has no information on "Jonathan" and makes no mention of John other than the initial listing. The Joseph Tipton discussed by E. C. Tipton<sup>3</sup> would seem more likely to have been the son of William Tipton (ACD) than of Mordecai (ABC). However, the records of Lt. Harry S. Tipton<sup>4</sup> that delineate the offspring of Mordecai as Joshua, Thomas, Sylvester, and Joseph do give some basis for attributing a son named Joseph to Mordecai. In addition to the candidate sons given by E. C. Tipton, the 1773 Baltimore County tax roll, which lists Mordecai and "Quiller" Tipton as co-residents, raises the possibility that Mordecai may have had a son by that name. Finally, there are some fairly strong indications that Mordecai had a son named "Shadrack" who migrated to Alabama.

Although there is a shortage of the documents (e.g., wills, etc.) that are usually used to substantiate family ties, a number of bits and pieces of information can be used to connect several of Mordecai's sons to him:

(1) The attorney's statement in connection with Thomas Tipton's pension claim identified the Honorable John Tipton of the U.S. Senate as the nephew of Thomas Tipton.

(2) Honorable John Tipton stated in a letter to Lyman C. Draper<sup>5</sup> that Colonel John Tipton was his uncle.

(3) Jonathan Tipton, son of Colonel John, stated in a letter to Draper that Joshua Tipton, father of Senator Tipton, was a son of Mordecai Tipton.

(4) The pension statements of William and Thomas Tipton make it seem almost certain that these two men were brothers.

(5) William Tipton, father of Mordecai, died leaving Samuel (age 5 years), Sarah (age 1/2 year), Mordecai (age 23 months), and Hannah (Price) Tipton (age 26 years). Hannah remarried shortly thereafter and gave administration of her estate to Jonathan Tipton (AC) and her brother Mordecai Price<sup>6</sup>.

(6) William and Thomas Tipton, residents of Botetourt County, Virginia, in 1782.

(7) Mordecai Tipton granted 200 acres in Botetourt County, Virginia, near the county line.

<sup>1</sup> This discussion makes considerable use of the work of Joseph Bell (op. cit.), particularly the arguments he presented under family #4.037.

<sup>6</sup> Some think that Mordecai was reared with the family of his Uncle Jonathan Tipton (AC), and the way that Mordecai's migrations followed those of Jonathan Tipton (AC) leaves little doubt but that there was some attraction between the two families. Although having Jonathan as a foster father might sway Mordecai to consider Colonel John Tipton more as a brother than a cousin, one is inclined to attribute accurate, legalistic terminology to the attorney's statement cited in (1) above. Had Mordecai married his cousin, Sarah Tipton (ACC), Col. John Tipton would, in fact, have been Senator John Tipton's uncle; otherwise, Senator John Tipton would have been Col. John Tipton's first cousin, once removed. Mordecai's marriage to Sarah Tipton would also serve to double the attraction between the families of Mordecai (ABC) and Jonathan (AC) Tipton and make the parallel migrations of the two families a natural thing.

Joshua, son of Mordecai and Sarah Tipton (ABC),<sup>2</sup> was born in Baltimore County Maryland, ca. 1750,<sup>3</sup> but moved, along with his father, to Virginia sometime prior to 1785. He married Janet Shields (only daughter<sup>4</sup> of Robert and Nancy [Stockton] Shields), a native of Rockbridge County, Virginia, in Botetourt County, Virginia, in 1785. Shortly after their marriage<sup>5</sup> and before August 1786, Joshua<sup>6</sup> and his wife moved to what later became Sevier County, Tennessee, in the company of several members of the Shields family. Joshua and Janet Tipton are thought to have had as many as five children, but the only ones who have been identified are Rhoda, John, Agnes, and Elizabeth.

Joshua Tipton was ambuscaded and killed by a band of Cherokee Indians on April 18, 1793. His brother-in-law, Joseph Shields, was severely wounded at the same time. Subsequently, in the fall of 1807, Janet moved with her family<sup>7</sup> to Indiana, settling at Brindley's Ferry, now Evan's Landing, on the Ohio River. Sometime after this she again resettled, this time to the fort in Jackson County (located just north of the site of present-day Seymour, Indiana) commanded by her brother, James. She continued to reside here until her death in 1827 and is buried in the Seymour City Cemetery.

<sup>3</sup> No hard information fixes the DOB of Joshua. He could have been born several years later but not much earlier.

<sup>4</sup> E. C. Tipton, op. cit. p. 404, lists Joshua's wife variously as "Jennet" and "Jeanette." A. R. Shields lists her as "Jennet" on p. 93 in his book, The Families of Cade's Cove. Jennet was the only girl in 11 children and her family was known as "The family of 10 brothers."

<sup>5</sup> Virginia Rebecca Shields Clark writes in her history of the Shields family that "She (Janet Shields) married Joshua Tipton in Sevier County, Tennessee, about 1785."

<sup>6</sup> E. C. Tipton, op. cit., p. 404, credits Joshua Tipton with being in the battle of Kings Mountain, but cites no source. Although Joshua was certainly a soldier and may well have participated in the Revolution, there is no evidence that he did. The fact that he was in Virginia at the time of King's Mountain makes it seem unlikely that he participated in that action, which was an ad hoc fray in North Carolina.

<sup>7</sup> Woolen's Biographical Sketches, pp. 185-196, relates that "the widow (Janet) in company of her son, John (the General and U. S. Senator of a later date), two sisters and a half brother of John removed to Indian Territory, settling in Harrison County, near Brindley's Ferry, on the Ohio." This passage would suggest a previous marriage by Joshua Tipton or a subsequent marriage by his widow. However, General John Tipton, in a letter to Draper, dated January 22, 1839, wrote that he "never had a brother nor have I visited the place of my nativity for thirty years, having separated from all my relations except my mother, and she died many years ago."

Sylvester, son of Mordecai and Sarah Tipton (ABC),<sup>1</sup> was born in Baltimore County, Maryland, ca. 1752,<sup>2</sup> is assumed to have moved to Virginia with his father ca. 1773. He married Mary Stark (daughter of John and Hanna (Eaves) Stark and niece of General John Stark of Revolutionary fame), in Culpepper, Virginia, about 1782.

"Sylvester Tipton was a teacher by profession, and lived in Jefferson County, Virginia (now W. Virginia), near Harpers Ferry, Virginia..(and in the winter of 91/92 taught school on the north bank of the Potomac in Frederick County, Maryland)...He was a man of very limited means, but had a fair education, and, better than all, possessed a good name. He was small in stature, but had a good constitution, and lived to the ripe old age, dying (March 8, 1843) at the age of ninety years<sup>3</sup>. His wife was a woman of more than ordinary strength of character.....She was tall and dignified in appearance, and being unusually intelligent, occupied a conspicuous place in the communities where she resided."<sup>4</sup> "Sylvester Tipton reared a family of eight children,...four sons and four daughters.....The sons were Capt. Thomas, John, Jonathan, and Hiram."<sup>5</sup> <sup>6</sup>

In 1796/97, Sylvester moved his family to Chillicothe, in what is now Pickaway (then Ross) County, Ohio, and he was teaching in that county in 1807. He moved to Franklin County between 1813/15 and on to Madison County prior to 1825; he was a Justice of the Peace of that county in that year. The 1830 census for Madison County, Ohio, lists a Sylvester Tipton age 60-70 with a wife of the same age, while the 1840 census for Franklin County, Ohio, lists a Sylvester Tipton age 70-80 with a wife age 50-60, indicating that Sylvester had both moved and remarried during the decade of the 60s. J. H. Bell states that Sylvester Tipton married, secondly, Elizabeth Peel in Madison County, Ohio, January 30, 1838.<sup>7</sup>

County, Md.

ounty, Tn.

<sup>1</sup> No known documentation connects Sylvester Tipton to Mordecai, and the relationship is based completely on circumstantial evidence and surmise. J. H. Bell, op. cit., #4.038, points out that this already tenuous connection is attenuated somewhat by the fact that "no known son or grandson of Sylvester was named either Mordecai or Joshua, a normal expectancy." (A somewhat similar discontinuance in familial Christian names can be found in the family of Edward Tipton (ACA). cdt) Some support of the connection is to be found in Biographical Record of McLean County, Illinois, wherein Thomas Foster Tipton traces his descent from four pre-revolutionary brothers of Frederick County, Virginia: "Joshua, Sylvester and two others unknown."

<sup>2</sup> Both E. C. Tipton, op. cit. and J. H. Bell, op. cit., list Sylvester's place of birth as Virginia, but the location/timing is inconsistent with Mordecai's history.

<sup>3</sup> Note that the age given Sylvester here does not agree with the ages shown in the 1830 and 1840 Ohio census records. The 1830 census age does correspond with the DOB for Mary (Stark) Tipton.

<sup>6</sup> The records of a Lt. Harry Tipton of Payson, Utah, cited by E. C. Tipton, op. cit., p. 446, credits Sylvester with another son, also named Sylvester. The 1813 DOB given for this second Sylvester would extend Mary Tipton's fecundity to age 52, a fairly unlikely occurrence. Hence, Sylvester is not included among Sylvester's (ABC C) offspring.

<sup>7</sup> E. C. Tipton, op. cit., p. 409, gives the name of the second wife as Paulson and the date of marriage as about 1835.

WILLIAM TIPTON (ABC D)

William,<sup>1</sup> son of Mordecai Tipton<sup>1</sup> (ABC) and Sarah<sup>2</sup> (Tipton ACC ?) was born January 1, 1754<sup>3</sup> near Baltimore, Maryland, and resided in that state and county till sometime after 1773. By 1775, his father had moved the family to the vicinity of Mt. Vernon, Virginia, where they dwelt for a brief period before moving on to Frederick County, Virginia, in 1775 or 1776.

LOD

William Tipton married Mary Elizabeth Porter<sup>3</sup> ca. 1774, and was living in Frederick County when he enlisted as a private in the Virginia troops in 1778. In early 1778, he served 4 months under Captains Babb and Lynn, was in an engagement with the Indians at Wheeling, was stationed at Fort Pitt a part of the time, returned home, and was discharged. In June of 1779, he was again ordered into service and forthwith marched under the command of General Morgan to a place called "Haw Fields" near the Virginia and Maryland state line. From the summer of 1779, he served about 4 months under General Smith; and, from early summer of 1780, served 5 or 6 months, first under General Lewis, later under General Morgan. From August of 1781, he served a little over 3 months under Captain John Galloway and was in the siege of Yorktown.

A 1781 Shenandoah Court order<sup>4</sup> allocating support for Mary Tipton, wife of William Tipton, and five children is evidence that William and Mary Tipton had five children in the period 1774 to 1781. However, only two of the seven children (Mary (Polly) and Elizabeth) who were born before 1781 have been identified. Consequently, it would appear that three of the children of this union either died young or else have not been identified.

ABC DA MARY

William Tipton moved from Frederick County, Virginia, to Botetourt County, in that same state, around 1782 and dwelt there until after 1787. He then moved on to Kentucky. He was allowed a pension on his application that was executed on October 1, 1832, at which time he was living in Montgomery County, Kentucky. His application was signed "William Tipton Senior." The application gave no data relative to his family.

ABC DB ELIZAI

A copy of a Pension Bureau letter in the file of Thomas Tipton (ABC A) states that "William Tipton Senior of Montgomery Co. Ky., testified that his brother Thomas Tipton served in Capt. Galloway's Co. which was attached to Col. Lewis's Rgt. at Yorktown....Thomas Tipton having taken sick at Yorktown was hauled in a baggage wagon to within 30 miles of his home, from which place (William Tipton) took him on horse."

ABC DC JOHN

William Tipton died May 12, 1837, and is buried in a family plot situated on a hillside overlooking his homesite about 1-1/2 miles south of Mount Sterling, Kentucky. The plot also contains the grave sites of his wife, Mary, two of his children, and several grandchildren.

<sup>1</sup> J. H. The writer is inclined to place more emphasis on William's relationship to Thomas Tipton and less on the term "cousin," which was often used loosely.

<sup>1</sup> Lockwood Barr of Pelham Manor, NY, in a study that he had completed in January 1941, reported, among other things, (1) that Margaret Bradshaw was the daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Bradshaw, (2) that Elizabeth Porter was born June 14, 1747, in Baltimore, Maryland, and (3) that the father of the William Tipton of this study was John Tipton, son of Thomas Tipton. Mr. Barr is in error on these last two items. cdt

<sup>2</sup> Although almost anything is possible in love, war, and politics, the writer finds the time and place of this union very questionable. Except for a few squatters along the Sabine and Red Rivers, there were virtually no Anglos living in Texas until Stephen F. Austin settled some 300 families along the Brazos River in Austin County in 1821. cdt

The Meshac Tipton who is the subject of this scenario was listed in the 1820 Limestone County, Alabama, census as the head of a household consisting of one male and one female over the age of 21 and one male and one female under the age of 21. His age is given in the 1830 census for Madison County, Alabama, as 60-70 years, and two females are included in his household, one age 30-40 and another age 15-20, presumably his wife and daughter. The last census listing for Meshac occurs in the 1840 enumeration for Madison County and gives his age as 70-80 and that of his wife as 40-50. The age of another female in the household who is taken to be his daughter is given as 20-30. Two other males are listed in the household, one age 20-30, possibly his son, and another 30-40, possibly his son-in-law.

It is posited, based on the man's name, his residence in Madison County, and the lack of a better explanation, that this Meshac Tipton was the son of Mordecai Tipton (ABC). It is further postulated, in order to fit him in with the rest of Mordecai's family, that Meshac Tipton (ABC?H) was born in Baltimore County, Maryland, ca. 1762. Neither the identity of Meshac's wife nor the names of any of his children have been determined as of 1997.

SYNOPSIS: William Tipton applied for pension on October 13, 1834, at which time he was a resident of Fayette County, Pennsylvania, aged 76 years. He designated himself as William Tipton, Senior. He stated that he enlisted in June 1773 while a resident of Gunpowder Falls, Baltimore County, Maryland, then age 15 years; that he continued in service for 5 years, 2 months; and had to leave the service because of rheumatism contracted in the service which rendered him unfit for military duty. He stated that he served in Captains Lecky Lemon's and Jacob Lingall's Companies, Colonel Richard John's Regiment; that his service was rendered as private, ensign, and 1st lieutenant; also that he was in an engagement with the Indians at Bloody Run in Pennsylvania.

It is difficult to place this man with certainty. The line of Thomas Tipton (AA) through his son Jonathan appears to be the most likely because the information that we have on this man meshes reasonably well with Jonathan's son William.

SYNOPSIS: William Tipton stated in his pension application that he was born near Baltimore, Maryland; that the family moved to Frederick County, Virginia; and that he married Mary Elizabeth Porter there. He volunteered in Frederick County, Virginia, as a Minute Man under Captain Babb in early 1778. He marched with Captains Babb and Hooker to Ft. Pitt and was under Captains Babb and Lynn at Ft. Sill. He went to Haw Field under General Smith; and he went to Camden, South Carolina, in 1780, under Captain John Galaway, to reinforce General Gates. In 1781, he was at the siege of Yorktown. He was in service at least 4 years. After the war, he lived in Frederick, Virginia, a while and then moved to Kentucky. He was in Montgomery, Kentucky, in 1833.

I haven't seen any Tiptons on this board. Are there any out there? Vance B. Tipton settled near Scottsboro, AL @1818. He married 3 times and raised a large family in Jackson Co. The second wife was Theresa Green Thomas widow of Charles Thomas and sister to Asa Russell Green. Many of the sons of Vance B. served/died in confederate army. Looking for Anyone with info or interest

Thanks, Wayne

Wayne, I have no formal documentation on this but here is a starting place for you. Vance was born in approx. 1798. He was the son of Benjamin Tipton who was born in 1755 and Rebecca Ray. Other children in this family include Sally, peggy, Jacob, Benjamin F., John, Betty, David Butler, Lavinia, Samuel, and Patsy. The father (Benjamin) is the son of the famous Col. John Tipton. Rebecca Ray died in >>> Carter Co, Tenn. in 1795. Benjamin died in 1807. There is some confusion between the brother of Vance, Benjamin F. and a Benjamin that I descend from. In one source Benjamin F. is shown as married to a Nancy Brooks but that is not correct.

Nancy Brooks was married to Benjamin son of Joseph. Benjamin son of Joseph was born 1802, Benjamin F. son of Benjamin was born 1787. These lines are difficult to separate as they are related and all named their children similar names. Col. John in your line is a brother to a Major Jonathan.(the titles are Revolutionary War service titles) Major Jonathan is my line. >>>> Major Jonathan and Col. John are sons of Jonathan Jr.(1699-1779) He married Elizabeth Edwards and Mary _____ Jonathan SR. (1639-1757) married Sarah Pierce and mary Chilcote. Jonathan Sr. arrived in Baltimore by way of Jamica. I know that Jonathan Jr., Thomas, and William were all Baptized at St. James Parish Church Sept. 17, 1704.

I have a book with a copy of the St. James Parish records of Anne Arundel County, Maryland vol. I page 309. I have so far been unsucessful in locating this record except reproduced in a book. I have extensive other info on these Tiptons. I will try to keep posting a little at a time.>>> If you don't want this because most of it is not verified let me know but as I said it gives you some clues and starting points. Good luck and let me hear from you.
